

THE AUTHORS

BIANCA BALEA, PhD, is an Assistant Professor in Social statistics at the Faculty of Sociology and Social work, “Babeş-Bolyai” University, Cluj Napoca. Also, she is a post-doctoral researcher at the Institute of Sociology (Romanian Academy) within a research project that addresses the quality of friendship in the age of online social networks. She participated in national and international research projects, among which EU Kids Online, 2009–2014 (dir. Sonia Livingstone and Leslie Haddon, LSE), and Net Children Go Mobile, 2012–2014 (dir. Giovanna Mascheroni). Her current research interests are sociology of the Internet, social and digital inequalities, children’s ICT use, friendship and personal data misuse on social media.

MĂDĂLINA BĂLĂŞESCU is a Senior Lecturer at University of Bucharest, College of Journalism and Communication Studies. She has a PhD in Media Sociology with a theme relating media representations, public space and democracy published in 2013 under the title “Mass-media: social representations and stereotypes. Society, democracy, social role” (2013, Tritonic Publishing House). She also published a TV production handbook (2003, Polirom; 2015, Tritonic, the reviewed edition), 4 books chapters (author and co-author): 1) Bălăşescu, M., Marinescu, V., 2014, “The Romanian Press and European Issues: A content Profile” in Stepinska, A.-ed., 2014, Media and Communication on Europe, A. Stepinska-ed., Berlin, Logos Verlag Publishing House), 2) Bălăşescu, M., Vlad, T., 2010, “Few Educators, Many Media and Journalism Programs: Journalism and Mass Communication Education in Romania after the fall of the communism” in Beate Josphe, Lee Becker-ed., 2010, Journalism Education in Countries with Limited Media Freedom, New York, Washington D.C./Baltimore, Bern, Frankfurt, Berlin, Brussels, Vienna, Oxford, Peter Lang, 3) Bălăşescu, M., 2009, „TV Reporting” in M. Coman-ed., 2009, The Journalism Handbook, Iaşi, Polirom, 4) Coman, M., Radu, R., Hoge, A., Buhăniţă, I., Bălăşescu M., 2006, „Trimedial Working in Local Journalism: Romania and the CEE countries” in Paukens, H. and Uebbing, S. (ed.), Trimedial Working in European Local Journalism, Reinhard Fischer, Munchen. She also had many contributions to other books chapters and articles published in Conferences Proceedings or scientific publications, focused on mass-media field. She also participated in national and international conferences related to the following areas of interest: mass-media: system, professional culture, media organization, media representations, TV.

Rom. Jour. of Sociological Studies, New Series, No. 2, p. 215–217, Bucharest, 2016

Creative Commons License
Attribution–NoDerives CC-BY-ND 4.0

DAN-NICULAE PODARU obtained a PhD degree in Science of Communication in 2013 at the University of Bucharest, Faculty of Journalism and Science of Communication. His academic interests include fashion studies, fashion semiotics, gender studies and gender mutations in fashion, sociology and fashion, communication and advertising. Currently, he is an Assistant Professor at the Faculty of Journalism and Science of Communication, Department of Cultural Anthropology and Communication at the University of Bucharest. In 2013 he published the volume entitled Fashion Semiotics. Gender Transformation in contemporary fashion, University of Bucharest Publishing House and he is a co-author of the volume Fashion, Gender and Identity published in 2015 at Tritonic Publishing House.

JOSEPH ADESOJI OLUYEMI is a prospective PhD student in the Department of Sociology, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. His areas of specialization include Medical Sociology and Sociology of Development with special interests in Adolescent Health, Occupational health, Infectious diseases, Emerging diseases, Sexualities and issues in development.

MOHAMMED ABUBAKAR YINUSA is an Associate Professor and Lecturer at the Department of Sociology, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. His area of specialization is in Sociology of Development and Social Problems. He has several publications and has attended various conferences both locally and internationally.

JOSEPH ADEJOKE ADIJAT is a Lecturer and Consultant Clinical Microbiologist at Bowen University, Iwo Nigeria. She is a member of the West African College of Physicians and a Fellow of National Postgraduate Medical College of Nigeria. She specializes in infectious diseases.

RAJI ABDULATEEF is a PhD student and lecturer in the Department of Sociology, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. His areas of specialization include Sociology of Development, Rural Sociology and Social issues.

KADIRI KEHINDE is a PhD holder in Mass Communication and a lecturer in the Department of Mass Communication, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. Her area of interest is in health communication.

IBIMIDU AKINDELE is an MSc graduate from the Department of Sociology, University of Ilorin. He has worked with the Voluntary Service Overseas (VSO) Nigeria as Programme Support Officer, HIV/AIDS. He also participated as a facilitator for the Peer2Peer Education of the G-WIN (Girls and Women Initiative in Nigeria) organized by the Nigeria's Federal Ministry of Health, Federal Ministry of Education, Federal Ministry of Finance, Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation as well as other partner organizations. His research interest cuts across education, health, gender, social relations in the workplace as well as research methodology in behavioral sciences.

NGOZI N. IHEANACHO is a senior Lecturer with the University of Port Harcourt, Nigeria. He is a holder of two Doctorate Degrees in Sociology, and in Religious and Cultural Studies. His areas of research interest are Sociology of Religion, Culture and Gender Studies. He is the research editor of the Journal of Religion and Culture, University of Port Harcourt. He is the author of Humanity and Human Relations: A Religious and Cultural Approach; West African Traditional Societies: Fundamentals of Religion and Socio-Cultural Heritage; Culture, Development and Religious Change (ed.); Intercultural Communication and Public Policy (ed.); Christianity in Nigeria: Advent, Variety and Change (ed.). He has also published articles in internationally referred journals, the most recent includes “Traditional Religion and Socio-Anthropological Factors Sustaining Widowhood Configurations of Violence on Nigerian Women” Journal of Gender and Power, vol. 4, No. 2, 2015, pp. 111–129. Adam Mickiewicz University, Poland, “Nigerian Praxis of Religious Tourism and Pilgrimage Motivations in the Globalizing World” Journal of Religious Studies, History and Society vol. 13, No. 1, 2015, pp. 259-284, University of Mackenzie, Brazil’ “The Alienation of Nigerian Women in Widowhood” The Journal of Pan African Studies vol. 8, No. 7, October 2015 pp. 18–40, California Institute of Pan African studies, California; “Identity and Religious Change: The Nigeria Experience” Journal of Religious Studies, History and Society vol. 12, No. 1, 2014, pp. 81–112, University of Mackenzie, Brazil.

ABDULLAHI MUHAMMAD MAIGARI was born in 1986 in Nassarawa Eggon, Nasarawa State Nigeria. He attended Roman Catholic Mission Primary School Nassarawa Eggon between 1989–1995 and completed secondary education at Eggon Community Secondary School Nassarawa Eggon in 2001. Obtained National Diploma in Business Administration and Management at Nasarawa State Polytechnic, Lafia in 2006. Completed first degree at University of Jos, Plateau State, Nigeria in 2012. Currently, Abdullahi Muhammad Maigari is a postgraduate student (M.Sc. Sociology) in the Department of Sociology, Faculty of Social Sciences, Usmanu Danfodiyo University Sokoto, Nigeria.

UMAR DANTANI was born in 1969 in Jega, Kebbi State Nigeria. He attended Jega Town Primary School between 1975–1981 and completed secondary education at Government Day Secondary School Jega in 1986. Obtained Nigerian Certificate in Education (NCE) at College of Education Sokoto in 1990. Completed first, second and third degrees respectively at Usmanu Danfodiyo University Sokoto, Nigeria. Currently, Dr. Umar Dantani is a Senior Lecturer in the Department of Political Science, Faculty of Social Sciences, Usmanu Danfodiyo University Sokoto-Nigeria.

